Combined Federal Campaign Coming to a Close

The Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) Overseas will end on Fri. Dec 1, 06. The CFC is the only campaign authorized to solicit donations from employees in the Federal workplace on behalf of charitable organizations. Is it possible for one person to help cure cancer? How about feed a city's homeless? Provide an education for a refugee in a developing country? Save an endangered species? Is it possible for one person to Make a World of Difference? With the 2006 CFC-O the answer is YES!

Take a look at what your money can do!

- $2 per month buys a winter sleeping bag for a homeless child
- $2 per month removes 100 pounds of trash from a beach
- $3 per month supplies a luncheon for families of deployed service members to thank them for their sacrifice
- $6 per month promotes environmental conservation in an isolated village in a developing country
- $8 per month provides some clothing and supplies to a fire victim
- $9 per month can help a child with cerebral palsy through four therapy sessions
- $10 per month feeds a child for 30 days
- $12 per month protects six acres of rainforest
- $20 per month provides vaccines against measles, yellow fever, diphtheria, tuberculosis and polio for 60 children in a developing country
- $20 per month can deliver a "waiting child" out of an institution and into the arms of a loving family
- $25 per month sponsors a career exploration program for a young adult
- $31 per month buys medicines to treat 1,000 adults and children for three months
- $43 per month connects a child at risk with a caring mentor for one year
- $50 per month buys one veterinary kit to help keep a town's livestock healthy in a developing country

Through the 2006 CFC-O, you may choose from nearly 1,900 participating charities to be the recipient of your contribution. Log on to www.cfcoverseas.org for more information or contact your local CFC-O representative at Martin.phillips@us.army.mil

Report Suspicious Activity

United States Army Intelligence and Security Command reminds the Warner Barracks community to report suspicious activity. Of particular interest: unsolicited mail (email too!), security violations, loitering, protests, questioning about unit personnel. Contact Military Police or Bamberg Field Office. REMEMBER OPSEC!

What Is OPSEC?

Operations Security, or OPSEC, is keeping potential adversaries from discovering our critical information. As the name suggests, it protects our operations – planned, in progress, and those completed. Success depends on secrecy and surprise, so the military can accomplish the mission faster and with less risk. Our adversaries want our information, and they don't concentrate on only soldiers to get it. They want you, the family member. To report suspicious activity directed at U.S. Forces, call the Bamberg Field Office, 66th Military Intelligence Group. 469-7936 / 0951-300-7936 or the spyline hotline at 347-3479 / 01655-60-3479

Pest Concerns Ban Some Nativity Scenes from U.S.

By Robert Szostek, U.S. European Command Customs and Border Clearance Agency Public Affairs

Many European countries have a tradition of making nativity scenes at Christmas time that Americans love to buy. However, the natural products used to make them are often banned from import to the United States because of the agricultural pests that could be nested in them.

Shoppers should be aware that they can be fined $100 or more if they mail scenes that contain moss, bark, pinecones, untreated straw or other materials found to contain insects. However, Department of Agriculture officials say people can send nativity scenes that are produced using stripped wood, plastic, or commercially cleaned and lacquered straw.

Example of a type of Nativity scene that may be banned from import to the United States.

Italy, for example, has a custom of recreating the nativity scene called Presepe. These representations contain miniature clay figures that craftsmen have made for hundreds of years. German nativity scenes are called Weihnachtskrippe and contain carved or ceramic figures.

However, these figures are often housed in a village setting made of natural bark decorated with peat moss. "The bark frames or peat moss parts of these nativity scenes can contain damaging insects or other pests," said William Manning, U.S. Department of Agriculture adviser to U.S. European Command, "and are therefore prohibited from being imported into the United States." The figurines themselves pose no agricultural risk and can be sent or taken stateside. For more information contact your Bamberg Customs Office at 469-7460 or stop by Bldg. 7011. Rm. 128

Collard greens coming for the Thanksgiving season

Collard Greens

Bagged collard greens will be in Europe in time for Thanksgiving. Cleaned, cut and ready for the pot... how easy can it be? If you want them again for Christmas, buy them now for Thanksgiving. Your purchase is your vote! If the demand is high enough, we'll do it again! Check your local produce department. Bulk, loose collard greens will also be available.

Kay's Kitchen recipes and tips for the perfect holiday dinner online this month

Go to www.commissaries.com for everything you need to know about cooking the perfect holiday dinner. All the traditional dishes will be there and even tips on the latest fried turkey craze. Your mom not there to help you? Put Kay in your kitchen this year!

Turkey 101

From Kay's Kitchen at www.commissaries.com

If you're the appointed turkey cook this Thanksgiving, and you're stressing to the max because you've never done it before, take comfort in knowing this – roasting the turkey is the easiest part of the entire traditional feast. Peruse your commissary aisles for the turkey tailored to your specific needs – we've got 'em big and small and everything in between. Arm yourself with these basic guidelines and tips, and you're "good to go."

How much do you need?

Plan on 1/2 to 3/4 pounds per person for a regular bone-in turkey, and about 1/3 pound per person for a boneless breast or turkey roast. Allow a bit more if you want plenty of leftovers.

How long does it take to thaw?

Short answer – a long time! Place the frozen turkey on a tray in the refrigerator, and allow five hours per pound to complete the thawing process. Depending on size, this can take from two to five days. To speed things up a bit, remove the giblet packet and neck from inside the turkey, and thaw them separately. Be sure to check both the body cavity and the neck cavity for these – sometimes they are stored in two packets. If time is short, use the Cold Water Method for thawing, but do so carefully — spoilage bacteria can multiply rapidly at temperatures above 40°F. With the turkey in its original wrapper, place in a large container and cover completely with cold water. Change the water every 30 minutes, and allow an hour per pound total thawing time.

How to roast?

Preheat the oven to 325°F. Remove giblet packets from inside the turkey, then rinse inside and out with cold water and pat dry with paper towels. Generously rub the body and neck cavities with salt, and insert a medium onion, cut into quarters, and two or three celery sticks, with leaves. Sprinkle the skin with salt, then brush all over with melted butter or oil. Place the turkey, breast-side-up in a shallow roasting pan, and roast on the lowest oven rack until a meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the thigh registers 175°F to 180°F, and in the breast 160°F to 165°F. Refer to your turkey's original wrapper for approximate total roasting times, which can range from 2 3/4 to 3 hours for a small turkey to 4 1/2 to 5 hours for a large one. Remove the turkey from the oven, tent loosely with aluminum foil, and let it rest for 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

To stuff or not to stuff?

If your favorite part of the Thanksgiving meal is the stuffing, then by all means get a reliable recipe and give it a try. Just be aware that food safety experts consider it a breeding ground for pathogens that can make you sick, if not done properly. For first-timers, baking a pan of dressing separately is usually easier, and definitely safer. The decision to "stuff yourself" however, is totally up to you! From my viewpoint, it's the one day each year when it's the totally acceptable thing to do. I'll burn off those extra calories by adding some distance to my daily walk, I tell myself, but I usually have to have a nap first.

National Turkey Federation roasting guidelines for a fresh or thawed turkey

Roast at 325° F on the lowest oven rack

Weight	Stuffed	Unstuffed
8–12 lbs	2¾–3 hrs	3–3½ hrs
12–14 lbs	3–3¾ hrs	3½–4 hrs
14–18 lbs	3¾–4¼ hrs	4–4¼ hrs
18–20 lbs	4¼–4½ hrs	4¼–4¾ hrs
20–24 lbs	4½–5 hrs	4¾–5¼ hrs
